The UCLA Career Center has a plethora of volunteer opportunities for alumni. Through increased collaboration with the UCLA Alumni Association, we firmly believe UCLA can be among the nation’s leaders in alumni-volunteer engagement. We’re committed to:

- Expanding the University’s capacity for facilitating the hiring of student Bruins by alumni Bruins
- Providing opportunities for alumni to participate in programs that enhance students’ professional development
- Enriching students’ opportunities and long-term career goals before and after graduation.

Hire a Bruin

- You may post jobs or internships for free through BruinView™ (career.ucla.edu/BruinView), our online system that is exclusively for students and alumni. You may also post opportunities on our LinkedIn page (go to career.ucla.edu for the link).

Share your expertise

- The JumpStart Series© (career.ucla.edu/JumpStart) - Provide your industry expertise to students through involvement in interactive panels and networking. Contact: Karol Johansen, kjohanse@career.ucla.edu

- Career Week (career.ucla.edu/careerweek) - You can lend your expertise and experience to UCLA students through Career Week’s workshops, employer panels, networking opportunities, and special events. Contact: Career Week Committee at marketing@career.ucla.edu

- Alumni Career Forum (career.ucla.edu/ACF) - Share your knowledge and experience with fellow alumni who are still on their career development path by participating on any number of skills building and professional development topics. Contact: Karol Johansen, kjohanse@career.ucla.edu

- Master’s & PhD Career Conference (career.ucla.edu/MastersPhDCareerConference) - Engage graduate students by sharing your own career story and expertise through a variety of forums. Contact: Annie Maxfield, amaxfield@career.ucla.edu

Mentor current students

- PREP is a one day job shadow program for first and second year students that is designed to deepen their knowledge and exposure to a particular career field. By hosting a student you’re investing their professional development while building your organization’s brand. Contact: Chris Howell, chowell@career.ucla.edu
