Transition Forward

It’s with mixed feelings that I announce my retirement from UCLA, effective December 31, 2008. I will be relocating to Lubbock, Texas. As the Associate Director, Employer & Alumni Relations & Research for the past 10 years, I have had the privilege of working directly with many of you to implement your recruiting strategies at UCLA. I will miss all of my colleagues at the Career Center and across campus, and certainly the many recruiters I have come to know over the years.

My best wishes for the upcoming holidays and a happy and successful New Year.

Carol Trigg

The Robotics Club at UCLA The Robotics Club at UCLA is one of the newest and largest student groups in the UCLA School of Engineering. With over 70 active members and three multi-disciplinary projects, the Robotics Club is also one of the most dynamic. We have students from all Engineering disciplines (ME, AE, EE) and Computer Science, as well as students majoring in non-technical disciplines such as Anthropology, Psychology, and Physical Sciences. Our group is focused on undergraduate education through hands-on projects involving a high level of teamwork. Our Fall and Spring Educational Projects form a year long course in introductory robotics for new members, serving to educate the inexperienced and build team spirit and camaraderie. New members pick an area of specialization, such as mechanical subsystem design, and are exposed to that specialization over the course of the year. To educate our members on systems-level design, we encourage them to participate in learning a system beyond their specialization. Experienced members work on our two current competition-level projects, the University Rover Challenge and RoboMagellan. The URC tasks teams with designing and building a Mars Rover-like system to compete in a series of simulated Mars missions. RoboMagellan is an outdoor autonomous robotics competition where ground vehicles must navigate an outdoor GPS corridor and obstacle course to identify and touch a target. The Robotics Clubs welcomes new sponsors to work with our club. We are excited about what we do and are always looking to meet people interested in our projects. Contact: Andrew Boggeri, President, Robotics Club at UCLA, www.seas.ucla.edu/robotics.

The Undergraduate Business Society (UBS) at UCLA is the largest undergraduate business organization on campus with over 3,000 UCLA students participating. For over two decades, the organization has held Industry Nights in fields including Consulting, Investment Banking, Real Estate, and Media and Entertainment; as well as career and internship fairs; and training workshops in Investment Banking and Consulting; and has continually provided students with access to endless opportunities to gain experience and a competitive advantage in the business world. For more information, please contact Dai Truong, UBS Director of Career Development, by email at daitruong@ucla.edu.

Coming up Winter Quarter:
- Career Development Workshop, January 14
- Career Fair, January 20
- Stock Market Game, beginning January 21
- Etiquette Dinner, February 4
- Media and Entertainment Night, February 18

The Association for Careers in Technology (ACT), offers UCLA students a hand in discovering and securing exciting career opportunities. ACT is responsible for many major career fairs, information sessions, and professional self-improvement workshops at UCLA. Open to all majors who are interested in a fast-paced future in the best companies in the fields of business and technology. As a student-run organization, ACT helps students build leadership, smart networking skills and salesmanship, professionalism, and technical experience.

The ACT Winter Technical Career Fair will take place on Friday, January 16, 10am-3pm, Ackerman 2nd Floor Lounge at UCLA. Current sponsors include Microsoft, JPL, Xerox, PWC, Symantec, and more. If your company is interested in participating in ACT fairs to recruit the brightest students at UCLA and increase your visibility on campus, please contact ACT at sarkis.khachatryan@act-la.org for further information.

Pre-Law Society. For the past 40 years, the Pre-Law Society at UCLA has been a valuable resource to students interested in a legal education. From weekly guest speakers to a nationally renowned Annual Law Forum, the Pre-Law Society is the only undergraduate advising organization, and also one of the most active groups on campus. In Winter quarter, the Pre-Law Society will provide members with sample LSAT classes, admissions workshops, and "Introduction to Law School" classes hosted by certified law professors. Scholarships and various resource books will also be available!
Plan Ahead

Use the Employer planning calendar to book your recruiting activities for winter & spring quarters. Remember, when the students are taking final exams, they are less likely to participate in employer events so avoid booking your events during the late weeks of each quarter.
