How to use charts below:

Medical School Applications include both overall cumulative GPA and BCPM GPA (Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics coursework). Both are weighed in the admissions decision.

Acceptance Ratios are shown by Overall Application GPA (listed on the top row) and the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) (listed in the far left column). The most recent MCAT score is used in the case of multiple test dates. The ratio reflects the number acceptances out of the total number of applicants within that section. For example, 18 UCLA seniors applied with a GPA of 3.90 or higher combined with an MCAT score of 35 or higher. Of those 18 applicants, 16 of them were accepted into at least one medical school (89%).

Note: The reported information is drawn from the American Association of Medical Colleges (AAMC), 2014 and based solely on students who give permission to share data. Therefore, not all 2014 graduates who applied are represented.
